CIVIC ORGANIZATION MEMBERS TO DINE FRIDAY NIGHT, WILL TALK OVER PLANS

General Discussion of Chamber of Commerce Purposes Will be Held

NEW ADMINISTRATION WANTS TO COOPERATE

Letter Sent to Every Member Urging Attendance at Banquet

Members of the Albany chamber of commerce will dine Friday night when every member was urged to be present and join in a general discussion of plans for the organization's growth and development during the year. One of the questions to be settled at the meeting Friday night is whether or not the chamber will employ a trained secretary.

Friday night's meeting will be the first held under the new administration, elected last week and composed of: C. D. Patterson, president; Rev. W. P. Wilks, vice president; Stanley Wyatt, treasurer; E. E. Graves, H. M. Priest, H. C. Hutchison and Dr. John C. Bragg, directors.

The following letter was addressed to the membership today:

Your are earnestly requested to attend a free supper at the Albany chamber of commerce rooms Friday, January 13th at 6:30 p.m.

Your new officers and directors are very anxious to promote the interest of the chamber of commerce to the fullest extent possible during the coming year, and in order that we may be able to have definite plans of action, it is our desire to have you present at this meeting, feeling free to express your wishes as to the plans of the chamber for the year.

This letter is addressed to you with the feeling that we will be honored with your presence and that you will feel free to give full expression of your ideas of the work your officers and directors should undertake to accomplish during this year. As this is your chamber of commerce and we are your officers elected to do your bidding, in order to accomplish the greatest results, we are compelled to have your close co-operation.

The main purpose of the meeting is to ascertain whether or not we shall attempt to employ a trained secretary, which will entail a much larger budget than the one entailed last year. In order that your directors may enter into the year with full knowledge of your wishes in this matter, we shall expect this matter freely discussed, so we may arrive at definite plans of action.

Yours for a closer co-operation in all civic matters and greater accomplishments for 1922.

Albany Chamber of Commerce,
By C. D. Patterson, President.

J. B. PATTERSON HAS LARGE HERD OF FINE PORKERS

Perhaps the largest herd of porkers ready for slaughter in the county is owned by J. B. Patterson at Lacon. He has 48 fine ones that will weigh from 350 to 600. Most of them are Poland China breed, and he has been waiting for the right sort of weather to butcher the lot.

Mr. Patterson conducts farming on a large scale, and was the first farmer in the county to pay attention to alfalfa on a commercial basis. He has something over twelve acres sown in alfalfa from which he annually gets from three to four cuttings, and the hay finds a ready sale. In addition to this hay, he annually saves and bales several thousand bales of Red Top and native hay, and ships it in carload lots, and has never found any difficulty in disposing of the product.

Always a large cotton farmer, last year found him making a variation in his accustomed plan, and large acreage was devoted to corn culture, with the result that he has several thousand bushels of fine corn for sale.

He uses two tractors on his farm, and with these has been able to get all his land turned in the early fall and ready for the next crop.

During the last year he kept quite a large herd of dairy cows, and shipped considerable quantities of cream to this market.

He owns 1500 acres of land, most of it in a state of cultivation, and he is generally able to make every acre of it pay.

Where He Put Nickel.

It was Sunday and Donald went to church for the first time with his mother. On arriving home from church his father asked him what he did while at church. And Donald replied: "Mamma gave me a nickel and I put it in the popcorn popper."

Road Advocate Will Speak Here

Announcement was made Wednesday afternoon that Senator John B. Rogers, prominent good roads advocate, will deliver an address Saturday night at 7:30 o'clock at the Albany chamber of commerce. A cordial invitation to both men and women was extended by the committee to hear this able orator.

Senator Rogers to Speak in Hartselle

Senator Rogers, of Sumpter, will address the citizens of Hartselle and surrounding country Saturday at one o'clock, on the proposed bond issue for good roads. Senator Rogers is an able exponent of good roads and will no doubt have a large attentive crowd to hear him. He is a member of the State Highway Commission.

The Decatur city council will meet in regular session Thursday night. One of the important features of business to come before the meeting will be the adoption of the license schedule for the current year.

Birmingham Merchant in Serious Condition at St. Vincent's Hospital

3 YEAR OLD DAUGHTER UNMOLESTED BY THIEF

Robbery Thought to Have Been Motive for the Crime

(International News Service)

BIRMINGHAM, Jan. 11.—G. S. Crawford, local merchant, continued to linger between life and death at St. Vincent's hospital at noon today, suffering from wounds about the head as a result of a murderous attack made upon him last night by an unidentified axe man, who previously had killed Mrs. Crawford by striking her in the head and then cutting her throat.

Evidence in the hands of the police today tended to show Mrs. Crawford was killed while waiting on the murderer who is thought to have represented himself as a customer. After killing Mrs. Crawford the assailant then went into the sleeping room occupied by the family, which is directly back of the store, and assaulted Crawford who was asleep in bed.

Crawford had been unable to make a statement at noon today. He is thought to be suffering with a fractured skull. A three year old daughter, who was asleep in her crib, was not harmed by the assailant.

Robbery is believed to have been the motive for the crime.

PROGRESS MADE IN AIDING CONVICTS

(Montgomery Bureau, Albany-Decatur Daily)

MONTGOMERY, Ala., Jan. 11.—Evidence of the great progress made by the welfare section of the state convict bureau in its campaign for the eradication of illiteracy from the prison camps of the state was given today when figures were made public showing that only 947 of the 2,925 convicts in prison January 1 were unable to read and write. This record is compared with 1,455 who were unable to read and write out of the total prison population of 2,836 at the close of the fiscal year September 30, 1920.

Illiterates are being taught in night schools throughout the state prisons and classes have been organized among those who desire to study higher English.

Another set of figures showed a great increase in the number of new convicts last year over the preceding year. During the fiscal year which ended September 30, 1,106 prisoners were received compared with 704 for the preceding fiscal year. This is an increase of 402 prisoners or 57.1 per cent. This increase has caused no surprise as years of depression always show an increase in the number of convictions.

APPLICATION OVERRULED

MONTGOMERY, Ala., Jan. 11.—The appellate court late Tuesday overruled an application for rehearing, after extending its opinion, in the case of the National Life and Accident Insurance company vs Joe Jackson and Harris, defendant from the Morgan circuit court.

EVACUATION OF CORK IS STARTED BY THE BRITISH

DUBLIN, Jan. 11.—The evacuation of Dublin by the British military forces got into full swing today, while the new provisional government of President Arthur Griffith began to function. English soldiers began leaving the Dublin barracks and it was reported they would be taken on board a troop ship tonight or tomorrow. Officials at Dublin castle have begun to ship the archives to London.

Huge cases of documents, bearing for the most part most upon military activities against the Sinn Fein in the past, were carted from the castle under military escort. They were taken on ship board for removal to English soil.

Crowds gathered and cheered as the signs of English occupation began to disappear. The military forces today were ordered to evacuate Cork, Limerick, Sligo, Galway, Waterford and Ballincollig. Large stores of equipment were removed. The black and tan police are ready to leave.

He declared that Lancaster and several companions drove up to the barracks in an automobile about that time. Springer said he asked Lancaster about the lynching and inquired who had fired the shot that killed Baird and that Lancaster pointed to himself. The witness also stated that if he had been warned that if he said anything about the shooting he would be accorded the same treatment as Baird.

Clyde Kitchens, another member of Lancaster's company, followed Springer to the witness stand. He told of Lancaster coming into the barracks building about 5 o'clock on the morning following the lynching and stated that Lancaster's clothing was covered with mud. He also testified that he saw Lancaster draw a revolver from his holster and cut a notch on the stock.

Court took a recess at 11 o'clock and was to reconvene shortly after noon. The offering of testimony by defense witnesses is expected to begin this afternoon and continue through the greater part of tomorrow. The case is expected to go to the jury Friday morning.

Baker Suit Again Is On Trial Here

The case of T. L. Baker vs. the Misses Dancy is being heard in the circuit court today. The case was begun Tuesday evening, and it is probable that it will consume the day.

The suit is for commissions claimed by the plaintiff to be due him for the sale of a large tract of timber land to Bond Bros.

At a former trial an award of $8,000 was given the plaintiff. The verdict of the jury was set aside and a new trial ordered. Plaintiff is represented by Messrs. Callahan and Harris; defendant by E. W. Godfrey.

VICTORY FOR LABOR WOULD INSURE NO FURTHER WAGE CUT FOR R.R. EMPLOYEES

Present Valuation of $18,000,000 Declared by Labor to be Too High

MORE THAN 1800 ROADS ARE INCLUDED IN DRIVE

Declared Existing Rates Would Bring 8% on "Proper Valuation"

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Jan. 11.—A fight to the finish to slash billions from the country's annual railroad bill opened today before the interstate commerce commission.

The attack, launched indirectly by organized railroad labor, was aimed primarily at slashing billions from the government's present valuations of all railroad property, upon which existing rates are based.

A victory for labor would insure no further reductions in railroad wages. The hearing beginning today is to determine a new valuation of all railroad properties, upon which to base new freight and passenger rates.

Under provisions of the Cummins-Essex transportation bill the existing valuation and rates expire March 1. More than 1800 railroads, including 200 Class 1 lines are affected. The present valuation, $18,000,000,000, is attacked by labor as exorbitant and grossly inflated. It was fixed two years ago by the commission, using estimates presented by the roads themselves.

Organized labor, while not participating officially at the hearing, will contend in an advisory capacity that true valuations of railroad properties is in the neighborhood of $10,000,000,000. Labor leaders are determined to force this lower valuation. The railroads, on the other hand, seek to maintain the present valuation and demand reduction in wages or higher freight rates to bring their income up to the authorized return on capital invested.

The labor leaders declare that existing rates would bring a revenue of about 8 per cent if the roads were properly valued and all inflated valuations reduced. In this fight all branches of organized rail labor are united publicly for the first time since before the strike threat last fall.

Mail Frequently Is Mixed Badly

Officials at the court house experience a good deal of trouble and misery as well, over some of the letters received by them. For instance, Judge Troup will receive a letter addressed to him that should have gone to the tax assessor, and vice versa. In fact, the probate judge's office is a general clearing house to clear up matters in this way, and the officials being possessed of a kindly nature, take pains to pass the letters to the proper place and see that the thing that is sought to be obtained by the writer is forthcoming, if at all possible to do so.

THE LEAGUE OF NATIONS
TWO YEARS OLD JANUARY 8

Writing in appreciation of the work of the disarmament conference up to the present time, Col. E. M. House, takes occasion to call attention to the fact that the league of nations now containing 51 states or nations, entered its third year the eighth day of January. He says concerning the league:

The fifty-one states now members of an association of nations are slowly, surely, and yet steadily blazing the way toward the goal which mankind must reach if civilization is to survive. This association completes today its second year of existence. Even during its short life it has prevented wars, and the machinery is in process for preventing others. It has committees working upon plans to alleviate those distressing problems which can be reached only by international co-operation. Among these problems are the suppression of the traffics in white slaves and opium; the betterment of health, finance and economics; the limitation of armaments; a system of mandates for backward countries, and a permanent court of justice.

Col. House, like Former President Wilson, goes out of his way to commend the work of the disarmament conference. He does not cast slurs and doubts upon it, as smaller men would have done under similar circumstances. He especially calls attention to the Root proposals for limiting the use of submarines and says "they are a good beginning toward the restoration" of an international code of laws. The importance of nations being as careful to observe legal enactments, as individuals are made to do, is stressed all the way through Col. House's letter. He says:

We do curb individual action whenever it conflicts with the rights of others; and likewise we must accept some restriction of national action when necessary to bring the world under the reign of law and order. In intrastate affairs we have found ways by which murder, theft and waywardness may be curbed, not alone by laws, but by the last of public opinion. And so, it will be with nations if an agreement can be reached regarding their relations with one another. The violations of even the spirit of the code will become increasingly less as to scorn and condemnation of such actions become more and more severe. In consequence, a statesman or a diplomat finally will come to guard the honor of his country as its most precious possession. The ways to avoid war can be made ample and can be accepted safely by any state impelled by a sense of fairness and justice.

The former chief advisor of Woodrow Wilson, in concluding refers to the League, again and suggests that we will eventually enter that "brotherhood of states." He says that the league's program is "a great and hopeful" one. He declares that the present Washington conference has "had a tendency to help it rather than hinder it," saying that the limitation of naval armaments, the accommodation in the Pacific and the restriction in the uses of submergibles are our latest contributions to the world-wide movement toward peace. And who can doubt that we will yet do more and finally will take our proper places in the brotherhood of states?

FORD TYPICAL OF GENUINE AMERICAN SUCCESS

Those who hold that America is still the land of opportunity, and not just the abode of very rich and very poor people, should certainly have no objection to Henry Ford, but should rather welcome him into the largest possible fields of usefulness. For the past few weeks, more has been said and written about the Detroit Wizard, than possibly about any other man of his generation in the same length of time. Ford publicity began to grow in leaps and bounds about the time he dismissed the Wall street money lenders, whom he had called in, refusing to meet their terms for a large loan and financed himself out of his own resources to the amount of $7 million dollars. The other day Mr. Ford came in for another great wave of publicity when it became known that he had more millions in actual cash, by several times than any other man ever had in the world's history.

And two certain authentic pieces of biography concerning the billionaire's life seventeen years ago and now have added fuel to the great flame of Ford publicity—first the fact Mr. Ford and his wife sought in vain for a dealer who would credit him for the price of a chicken for Christmas dinner 17 years ago and the further fact is that last year he paid the government $76,000,000 in taxes. The best part of all is that Mr. Ford's success has been genuine. He has proved that the old rule—that success comes almost entirely from following correct methods and will continue to be the rule. He has proven that integrity with business hustle is great gain. He early got the reputation of paying his employees well—the criticism that Ford worked his men and women to the limit on small wages has never been leveled against Ford. He nor his agents have never been found taking up time seeking to influence legislation for selfish reasons. If Mr. Ford has surprised some because of certain peculiar views, the matter rested there, and he is regarded by all kinds of men from the learned Edison down to the humblest, as a man of honesty, sound business ability, of clear personal life, and as having a deep love for humanity. And none of Ford's business enterprises are regarded as built on piracy, oppression or double dealing.

Unused to the unprecedented prosperity that literally took the business world off its feet in about three years, enough experience has been gained no doubt since to make the tide, that has been receding for the past two years at a rapid rate, and all are in better condition to stand the jolt now than formerly, because of the experience gained.

Sudden inflations are at all times bad, as the inflated thing may burst at any time, and the jolt given to business is anything but healthy. The reaction has taken hold noticeably and there can now be given good management to it to see that it is kept within healthy business bounds. The sails are set for steady business, devoid of over inflation.

In the devastated portions of France wrecked by the ravages of war, the inhabitants are calling on the Germans to help build them up, and German material is being shipped to that section to make the repairs.

This is a phenomena that is quite interesting indeed. It is better to have a roof of German material, put on by the German himself, than to leave the wrecks to further decay, is the idea expressed.

In this respect France is showing a good spirit, and the German a good sport by responding with material and work.

Not one dollar of additional tax will be put upon any man because of the $25,000,000 bond issue. This is an emphatic statement. Motor vehicles will bear the expense through sale of motor licenses. Don't get confused over the issue, let any one else confuse you. The plan is clear cut, and every phase of it is in the open, and will bear the closest investigation. It is just an opportunity to get the country out of the mud while Uncle Sam is willing to help.

Sunshine and rain; tempest and calm; Winter's sleep and Spring's awakening, are but the variations in the great musical production of Nature.

Where do I get off? When the mind ceases to function along the channels of good and wholesome thought; when every effort is made for self aggrandizement with no thought of the well-being of the other fellow; when one enters the road of error and persistently trods it to the end, is the time you get off in so far as the effort of your life count is helping to make it pleasant and profitable along right lines for others.

Shall the American people accept the Ford standard of business as the right one and the kind to pattern after?

FAIR PLAY IS THE THING

Every man and woman has a right to approve or disapprove of a measure that concerns all and his or her opinion will be at all times respected by the Daily, but when untruths are resorted to, it feels its duty to condemn. The report that toll gates are to be placed on the turnpikes to be built has been resorted to by some, according to report, and such tactics should and will be condemned by all right-thinking men and women. The Daily believes the building of roads in Alabama is one of the most necessary steps to forward the interests of Alabama and its people and to those who think differently it only hopes to induce them to take the view of what it believes is that of the great majority.

MESSING WITH MUSCLE SHOALS

The longer the Government procrastinates over the disposition of the Muscle Shoals project the more firmly is the commercial value of the undertaking established.

There is not sufficient data to form an opinion as to the equity of the recent bids that have been made for the property, but there is sufficient justification for the belief that the Ford bid stands out as the only one that is worthy of serious consideration.

Six months have been wasted since Mr. Ford made his proposal in reply to the solicitation of the War Department. He does not appear anywhere in the proceedings as a voluntary bidder, but when he undertook to rescue the Government from the predicament it was in and at the same time to improve the industrial situation he took the Government manipulators by surprise.

It begins to appear that he was invited to bid with the hope that the bait would not prove to be enticing.

It is understood that Mr. Ford or his agents will meet with the Secretary of War on January 11 and come to some understanding. If no agreement is reached, and no reasonable explanation offered for the failure, the public will have ample reason to believe that the administration is attempting to discourage rather than to encourage the development of this vast waterpower project.

Mr. Ford's offer is so simple and so fair that the administration will have difficulty in wriggling out of the hole that it dug for itself.

Many have been of the belief that certain large business interests are bringing pressure to bear on the administration to reject the Ford bid or to so entangle the Detroit manufacturer as to cause him to quit in disgust.

In the event that the facts prove these conclusions to be true, the administration may rest assured that the public will tackle the problem from a different angle.

There is in the Congress a group of agricultural members who are responsive to the wishes of their constituencies and to the farmer organizations, which have indorsed the Ford proposal. A combination of these interests can pass any resolution that is necessary to compel the sale or lease of the property. A resolution to this effect is reported to have been drafted, but delay in its introduction has been urged in order to give to the administration an opportunity to adjust the matter without congressional interference.

The time to go to bat has almost arrived. That time may arrive any day. When it does the administration will have to choose between the public welfare and "big business," and represented by the Fertilizer Trust, the Aluminum Trust and the Water-Power Trust.

The longer the administration messes with Muscle Shoals the harder will be the reckoning.—Nashville Tennessean.

NEVERMORE

Once upon a midnight dreary,
I was neither weak nor weary—
I was only getting dope on how two pair would beat a flush.
All my kale lay on the table,
I had bet all I was able;
And I'd reached the sad conclusion that the talk of luck was slush.

What a blessing is a Joker
In this lovely game of Poker;
On the draw I got the Joker and the Ace.

"Ha," thought I, my pulses burning,
"I can see my luck is turning.
Now I think I have a fair chance in this race."

But the show-down caught me napping,
Ah, I surely felt like slapping
On the wrist, the sap that sat across from me.

I had hocked the baby's bottle
And a book on Aristotle,
And I hate like hell to see the hopecks flee.

Then there came a sudden tapping,
No, by heck, it was a rapping,
Of a copper thundering upon my door,
And the poor sap clearing the railing,

Right on through the window sailing,
Left the city and I saw him nevermore,
But a feeling born of sadness, Greets me as the jailor fastens up the door.

But what makes us excessively angry is to discover that our idol not only has feet of clay but also fallen arches.

DEMOCRATIC PLAN
IN NEWBERRY FIGHT
CHANGE WEDNESDAY

(International News Service)
WASHINGTON, Jan. 11—Abandonment of the Democratic plan to move for the recommitment of the case of Senator Truman H. Newberry to the Senate committee, which investigated
the expenditure of about $195,000 in his campaign, was announced today by Senator Hitchcock, Democrat of Nebraska, the acting Democratic leader
of the Senate.

Hitchcock explained it had been discovered such a motion would be in conflict with the unanimous consent agreement by which the Senate is to vote to declare Newberry entitled, or not entitled, to his seat.

Instead the issue would be forced,
Hitchcock added, by a new resolution offered by Senator Walsh, Democrat of Montana, which would declare that Henry Ford is not entitled to a seat
in the Senate because he did not receive majority vote in the Michigan senatorial election of 1918 and that Newberry is not entitled to retain his seat because of the "scandalous and unlawful expenditures of money in his campaign."

Reconvening of the Senate today
found both sides still claiming a narrow margin of votes by which to either unseat Newberry or keep him in the Senate. Republican leaders announced that they were confident that they would command a majority of from 3 to 5 votes to prevent Newberry from being ousted.

WATER PLANT SALE
HEARD BY COURT

MONTGOMERY, Ala., Jan. 11—
Arguments were completed before the Supreme Court Tuesday in the case from Calhoun County involving the petition of the city of Anniston for an order requiring the Alabama Water Company to meet the conditions of a contract executed in 1910 for the sale of the Anniston water plant to the city of Anniston on certain terms.
The city lost the case in the Calhoun Court of Appeals, and appealed to the Supreme Court.

The contract of 1910 was made between the city and the Anniston Water
Supply Company. When the Alabama
Water Company took over the plant
it agreed to meet the conditions of the contract. The city last year decided to purchase the plant under the terms of the agreement but after negotiations it filed a bill in court alleging that the company had refused to do the things necessary for the reaching of an agreement. The lower court sustained demurrers of the company,
holding that the city had no authority to incur the debt necessary for the purchase of the plant without submitting the question to the people.
The city appealed, contending that the law gave it authority to incur the indebtedness.

Judge Hugh D. Merrill made the argument for the city, while the Alabama Water Company was represented by the firm of Knox, Acker, Dixon and Sterne and John B. Weakley, president of the Alabama Water Company.

WILL SHE MARRY THE KAISER?

Reports are current in Holland that the Kaiser is preparing to marry again. The reports say his bride is to be Frau von Rochow, a widow, whose husband was a Colonel in the Danzig Hussars. It is said Frau von Rochow first met Wilhelm at military maneuvers. Berlin newspapers picture her as a woman of great wealth and charm. She is now a guest of the ex-Kaiser at Doorn, Holland, and it is reported that the wedding date was set for January 18, but that objections of her family to the proposed union might delay it.

PETITION CONSIDERED

MONTGOMERY, Ala., Jan. 11—
(Special)—The Alabama Public Service Commission, acting as a board of arbitration, today heard and took under advisement the differences between the Mobile Traction Company and its employees regarding the wage scale which will be made effective in April.
No decision will be handed down at any early date as J. H. Wilson, speaking for the company, announced that he would file within ten days a petition regarding proposed changes in rates and charges and the commission announced that consideration would be given to the two cases at the same time.

Public Is Amazed at Continued Enormous
Demand for Tanlac

People All Over America Want to Know What Is Behind the Phenomenal Success of This Preparation That Makes It
the World's Greatest Tonic.

Day after day the question is being asked all over the United States and Canada: What is the reason for the phenomenal success of Tanlac? Why do we hear so much about it, and,
Why do Tanlac sales keep increasing every year, when other medicines seem to have short-lived popularity and are then forgotten?

The answer is simple enough. The test of time has proven to people all over the American continent that Tanlac always produces most gratifying results and that the remarkable relief it brings seems to be more permanent than ever before believed possible.

Tens of thousands of persons, everywhere, who took it when it was first introduced six years ago, report that they are still enjoying excellent health and millions of American homes are now using Tanlac as the family medicine after first trying it out thoroughly and proclaim it the World's Greatest Tonic.

Thousands of men and women of all ages and in all walks of life afflicted with stomach, liver and kidney disorders, some of them of long standing, as well as thousands of weak, thin, nervous men and women apparently on the verge of collapse have testified publicly that they have been fully restored to their normal health, strength and weight by its use.

Still others, who seemed fairly well, yet who suffered with indigestion, headaches, shortness of breath, dizzy spells, sour gassy stomach, constipation, bad complexion, loss of appetite, sleeplessness at night and terrible dejected, depressed feelings, state that they have been entirely relieved of these distressing symptoms and restored to health and happiness by taking Tanlac.

Tanlac has never been advertised as a cure-all or that it would perform unheard-of wonders. The advertising has been clean, straightforward and conservative. Actual facts and figures have been stated and stated in a true, business-like way that has commanded the confidence of all in the conservative claims set forth.

Tanlac has been well advertised, it is true, but such a large and rapidly growing demand could not be brought about by advertising alone. It is what the people themselves say that counts.

One bottle of Tanlac is sold in a neighborhood through advertising, but ten more are sold in that same community

and millions of American homes are now using Tanlac as the family medicine after first trying it out thoroughly and proclaim it the World's Greatest Tonic.

That is the reason why the people of every section of the United States and Canada, have become to speak of Tanlac as the World's Greatest Tonic.

And that is the reason why the demand for this remarkable medicine has grown to such proportions that it is almost impossible to keep dealers supplied.

Tanlac is sold by druggists everywhere.—adv.

THE LEAGUE OF NATIONS

TWO YEARS OLD JANUARY 8.

Waiting in appreciation of the work of the disarmament conference up to the present time, Col. E. M. House, takes occasion to call attention to the fact that the league of nations now containing 51 states or nations, entered its third year the eighth day of January. He says concerning the league:

The fifty-one states now members of an association of nations are slowly, surely, and yet steadily blazing the way toward the goal which mankind must reach if civilization is to survive. This association completes today its second year of existence. Even during its short life it has prevented wars, and the machinery is in process for preventing others. It has committees working upon plans to alleviate those distressing problems which can be reached only by international co-operation. Among these problems are the suppression of the traffics in white slaves and opium; the betterment of health, finance and economics; the limitation of armaments; a system of mandates for backward countries, and a permanent court of justice.

Col. House, like Former President Wilson, goes out of his way to commend the work of the disarmament conference. He does not cast slurs and doubts upon it, as smaller men would have done under similar circumstances. He especially calls attention to the Root proposals for limiting the use of submarines and says "they are a good beginning toward the restoration" of an international code of laws.

The importance of nations being as careful to observe legal enactments, as individuals are made to do, is stressed all the way through Col. House's letter. He says:

We do curb individual action wherever it conflicts with the rights of others; and likewise we must accept some restriction of national action when necessary to bring the world under the reign of law and order. In intrastate affairs we have found ways by which murder, theft and waywardness may be curbed, not alone by laws, but by the last of public opinion. And so it will be with nations if an agreement can be reached regarding their relations with one another. The violations of even the spirit of the code will become increasingly less as to scorn and condemnation of such actions become more and more severe. In consequence, a statesman or a diplomat finally will come to guard the honor of his country as its most precious possession. The ways to avoid war can be made ample and can be accepted safely by any state impelled by a sense of fairness and justice.

The former chief advisor of Woodrow Wilson, in concluding refers to the League, again and suggests that we will eventually enter that "brotherhood of states." He says that the league's program is "a great and hopeful" one. He declares that the present Washington conference has "had a tendency to help it rather than hinder it," saying that the limitation of naval armaments, the accommodation in the Pacific and the restriction in the uses of submergibles are our latest contributions to the world-wide movement toward peace. And who can doubt that we will yet do more and finally will take our proper places in the brotherhood of states?

Those who hold that America is still the land of opportunity, and not just the abode of very rich and very poor people, should certainly have no objection to Henry Ford, but should rather welcome him into the largest possible fields of usefulness. For the past few weeks, more has been said and written about the Detroit Wizard, than possibly about any other man of his generation in the same length of time. Ford publicly began to grow in leaps and bounds about the time he dismissed the Wall street money lenders, whom he had called in, refusing to meet their terms for a large loan and financed himself out of his own resources to the amount of 57 million dollars. The other day Mr. Ford came in for another great wave of publicity when it became known that he had more millions in actual cash, by several times that any other man ever had in the world's history. And two certain authentic pieces of biography concerning the billionaire's life seventeen years ago and now have added fuel to the great flame of Ford publicity—first the fact Mr. Ford and his wife sought in vain for a dealer who would credit him for the price of a chicken for Christmas dinner 17 years ago and the further fact is that last year he paid the government $76,000,000.00 in taxes. The best part of all is that Mr. Ford's success has been genuine. He has proved that the old rule—that success comes almost entirely from following correct methods and will continue to be the rule. He has proven that integrity with business hustle is great gain. He early got the reputation of paying his employees well—the criticism that Ford worked his men and women to the limit on small wages has never been leveled against Ford. He nor his agents have never been found taking up time seeking to influence legislation for selfish reasons. If Mr. Ford has surprised some because of certain peculiar views, the matter rested there, and he is regarded by all kinds of men from the learned Edison, down to the humblest, as a man of honesty, sound business ability, of clear personal life, and as having a deep love for humanity. And none of Ford's business enterprises are regarded as built on piracy, oppression or double dealing.

Shall the American people accept the Ford standard of business as the right one and the kind to pattern after?

Every man and woman has a right to approve or disapprove of a measure that concerns all and his or her opinion will be at all times respected by the Daily, but when untruths are resorted to, it feels its duty to condemn. The report that toll gates are to be placed on the turnpikes to be built has been resorted to by some, according to report, and such tactics should and will be condemned by all right thinking men and women. The Daily believes the building of roads in Alabama is one of the most necessary steps to forward the interests of Alabama and its people and to those who think differently it only hopes to induce them to take the view of what it believes is that of the great majority.

MESSING WITH MUSCLE SHOALS

The longer the Government procrastinates over the disposition of the Muscle Shoals project the more firmly is the commercial value of the undertaking established.

There is not sufficient data to form an opinion as to the equity of the recent bids that have been made for the property, but there is sufficient justification for the belief that the Ford bid stands out as the only one that is worthy of serious consideration.

Six months have been wasted since Mr. Ford made his proposal in reply to the solicitation of the War Department. He does not appear anywhere in the proceedings as a voluntary bidder, but when he undertook to rescue the Government from the predicament it was in and at the same time to improve the industrial situation he took the Government manipulators by surprise.

It begins to appear that he was invited to bid with the hope that the bait would not prove to be enticing.

It is understood that Mr. Ford or his agents will meet with the Secretary of War on January 11 and come to some understanding. If no agreement is reached, and no reasonable explanation offered for the failure, the public will have ample reason to believe that the administration is attempting to discourage rather than to encourage the development of this vast waterpower project.

Mr. Ford's offer is so simple and so fair that the administration will have difficulty in wriggling out of the hole that it dug for itself.

Many have been of the belief that certain large business interests are bringing pressure to bear on the administration to reject the Ford bid or to so entangle the Detroit manufacturer as to cause him to quit in disgust.

In the event that the facts prove these conclusions to be true, the administration may rest assured that the public will tackle the problem from a different angle.

There is in the Congress a group of agricultural members who are responsive to the wishes of their constituencies and to the farmer organizations, which have indorsed the Ford proposal. A combination of these interests can pass any resolution that is necessary to compel the sale or lease of the property. A resolution to this effect is reported to have been drafted, but delay in its introduction has been urged in order to give to the administration an opportunity to adjust the matter without congressional interference.

The time to go to bat has almost arrived. That time may arrive any day. When it does the administration will have to choose between the public welfare and "big business," and represented by the Fertilizer Trust, the Aluminum Trust and the Water-Power Trust.

The longer the administration messes with Muscle Shoals the harder will be the reckoning.—Nashville Tennessean.

Unused to the unprecedented prosperity that literally took the business world off its feet in about three years, enough experience has been gained no doubt since to make the tide that has been receding for the past two years at a rapid rate, and all are in better condition to stand the jolt now than formerly, because of the experience gained.

Sudden inflations are at all times bad, as the inflated thing may burst at any time, and the jolt given to business is anything but healthy. The reaction has taken hold noticeably and there can now be given good management to it to see that it is kept within healthy business bounds. The sails are set for steady business, devoid of over inflation.

In the devastated portions of France wrecked by the ravages of war, the inhabitants are calling on the Germans to help build them up, and German material is being shipped to that section to make the repairs.

This is a phenomena that is quite interesting indeed. It is better to have a roof of German material put on by the German himself, than to leave the wrecks to further decay, is the idea expressed.

In this respect France is showing a good spirit, and the German a good sport by responding with material and work.

Not one dollar of additional tax will be put upon any man because of the $25,000,000 bond issue. This is an emphatic statement. Motor vehicles will bear the expense through sale of motor licenses. Don't get confused over the issue, not let any one else confuse you. The plan is clear cut, and every phase of it is in the open, and will bear the closest investigation. It is just an opportunity to get the country out of the mud while Uncle Sam is willing to help.

Sunshine and rain; tempest and calm; Winter's sleep and Spring's awakening, are but the variations in the great musical production of Nature.

Where do I get off? When the mind ceases to function along the channels of good and wholesome thought; when every effort is made for self aggrandizement with no thought of the well being of the other fellow; when one enters the road of error and persistently trods it to the end, is the time you get off in so far as the effort of your life count is helping to make it pleasant and profitable along sight lines for others.

"Why do they call woman the weak vessel?"

"Why not?"

I see a good many feminine dreads.

One of the strangest things in this world is the way a woman glowers when you step on her foot in the street car and how she smiles when you romp on her cors at a dance.

Three things the world needs:

Puncture proof tires.

Fool proof automobiles.

Divorce proof marriages.

Virginia—"I'm saving them for a rainy day."

Also we sometimes wish that Christmas turkeys would gobble more and cost less.

DEMOCRATIC PLAN
IN NEWBERRY FIGHT
CHANGE WEDNESDAY

(International News Service)
WASHINGTON, Jan. 11.—Abandonment of the Democratic plan to move on the recommitment of the case of Senator Truman H. Newberry to the Senate committee, which investigated
the expenditure of about $195,000 in his campaign, was announced today by Senator Hitchcock, Democrat of Nebraska, the acting Democratic leader
of the Senate.

Hitchcock explained it had been discovered such a motion would be in conflict with the unanimous consent
agreement by which the Senate is to vote to declare Newberry entitled, or
not entitled, to his seat.

Instead the issue would be forced,
Hitchcock added, by a new resolution offered by Senator Walsh, Democrat of Montana, which would declare that Henry Ford is not entitled to a seat
in the Senate because he did not receive a majority vote in the Michigan senatorial election of 1918 and that Newberry is not entitled to retain his seat because of the "scandalous and unlawful expenditures of money in his campaign."

Reconvening of the Senate today
found both sides still claiming a narrow margin of votes by which to either
unseat Newberry or keep him in the Senate. Republican leaders announced that they were confident that they would command a majority of from 3 to 5 votes to prevent Newberry from being ousted.

WATER PLANT SALE
HEARD BY COURT

MONTGOMERY, Ala., Jan. 11.—
Arguments were completed before the Supreme Court Tuesday in the case
from Calhoun County involving the petition of the city of Anniston for an order requiring the Alabama Water Company to meet the conditions of a contract executed in 1910 for the sale of the Anniston water plant to the city of Anniston on certain terms.
The city lost the case in the Calhoun
Circuit Court and appealed to the Supreme Court.

The contract of 1910 was made between the city and the Anniston Water
Supply Company. When the Alabama
Water Company took over the plant
it agreed to meet the conditions of the contract. The city last year decided to purchase the plant under the terms
of the agreement but after negotiations it filed a bill in court alleging that the company had refused to do the things necessary for the reaching of an agreement. The lower court
sustained demurrers of the company,
holding that the city had no authority to incur the debt necessary for the purchase of the plant without submitting the question to the people.
The city appealed, contending that the law gave it authority to incur the indebtedness.

Judge Hugh D. Merrill made the argument for the city, while the Alabama Water Company was represented
by the firm of Knox, Acker, Dixon and Sterne and John B. Weakley, president of the Alabama Water Company.

Women on Jury in Fatty's Trial

(International News Service)

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 11.—There is every indication today that the task of getting a jury to try Fatty Arbuckle a second time for manslaughter was undertaken in some court that women will be well represented among the jurors chosen to hear the evidence.

There are 15 women in the panel of 55 prospective jurors summoned by Judge Louderback for duty today. Eight of them are married and seven single. It was announced as court convened that 19 of the 65 summoned had been excused because of previous jury duty. A moderate sized crowd was present when the trial opened but the grand rush of the first trial was not repeated.

Capital Editor is Dead at His Home

(Montgomery Bureau, Albany-
Decatur Daily)

MONTGOMERY, Ala., Jan. 11—Alva Fitzpatrick, known in newspaper and political circles throughout Alabama, died at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Claude Ray, here Monday. Mr. Fitzpatrick had been ill several of Montgomery county.

weeks but his condition had improved and it had been thought he would recover.

Mr. Fitzpatrick was editor of two daily newspapers in Montgomery many years ago and was one of the founders of the Montgomery Daily Times, which is one of the three daily newspapers here. He also was editor of a monthly magazine here for some time. Mr. Fitzpatrick served one term in the legislature as a representative of Columbus Dispatch.

Scent Is Distributed.
It is true that we associate scent with the flowers and, occasionally, with the leaves of plants. But nature is more marvelously loving of diversity than the sweetest, now here, now there, sometimes in the flower, sometimes in the leaf, in the fruit, the bark, the wood and even in the roots. In the ginger and the iris, for instance, the perfumed oils are in the roots, in the sandal tree the fragrance is in the wood, in the cinnamon shrub it is the bark that scents the air—Columbus Dispatch.

Will your "Good Morning" last all day?

Easy to start from the breakfast table with zest and enthusiasm, but how easy is it to keep on?

Does ambition last, or lag, as the day develops?

The afternoon "slump" is a factor to be counted upon, in business or social life.

Usually, there's a reason.

Nerves whipped by tea or coffee won't keep on running, and they won't stand constant whipping.

Many a man or woman who has wished the afternoon would be as bright as the morning has simply been wishing that the nerves wouldn't have to pay the natural penalty for being whipped with the caffeine drug.

Postum gives a breakfast cup of comfort and cheer, without any penalties afterward. There's no "letting down" from Postum—no midday drowsiness to make up for midnight wakefulness; no headaches; no nervous indigestion; no increase of blood pressure.

Think it over. There's full satisfaction in Postum—a cup of comfort for anybody (the children included), any time.

You can get Postum from your grocer or your waiter today, and probably you'll begin to have better tomorrows, as so many thousands have had, who have made the change from coffee to Postum.

Postum comes in two forms: Instant Postum (in tins) made instantly in the cup by the addition of boiling water. Postum Cereal (in packages of larger bulk, for those who prefer to make the drink while the meal is being prepared) made by boiling for 20 minutes.

MY MARRIAGE PROBLEMS

Adele Garrison's New Phase of Revelations of a Wife

Copyright, 1921, by Newspaper Feature Service, Inc.

The Story of Smith's Plans That Lillian Told Madge.

BEFORE I had finished my recital to Lillian of Robert Savarin's speech and manner, I wished myself well out of the task.

Close, intimate friends as Lillian and I are, there is always something about her which forbids any reference to her own heart problems unless she herself first speaks of them. And as she listened in a silence that to my imagination appeared unnecessarily forbidding, I wondered if she did not consider my comment an intrusion.

Something of this I tried to express to her stammeringly when I had ended my hasty recitation.

"Please, me, dear—I felt that my face was flaming—"for repeating this to you, but I felt somehow that you ought to know before you talked to him."

She smiled at me tenderly, but with something in her face sadder than tears. "Gratitude, not forgiveness, dear girl," she said, "but this is nothing new. I have known Robert's attitude, his jealousy for some time. It is only one more complication—that it is all. Thank you for telling me this, Madge. However, I will help to know it beforehand, and now, while we have the chance, I want to tell you as much as I may of what I have learned this morning."

The door of that inner room inside whose rigid walls Lillian keeps the emotional hurt of herself locked most of the time, swung to again, and its lock clicked audibly in my ears. For an instant she was within, had caught a glimpse of this "complication"—she had named it—when I was in the room. Her tumultuous look, I say, had counted Robert Savarin the central, the most devoted, self-absorbing of lovers. It shocked and disappointed me to find that he could be as pettily jealous as Dicky, as tyrannical! In his attitude toward her work as Harry Underwood had been in his insistence upon her dyeing her hair and using rouge.

The Last Details.

My heart ached for my friend, but I knew the only kindness I could do her was to ignore that locked door as she was doing. Therefore I dropped into a chair and asked the question which neither Dicky nor I had ventured to broach before, knowing that if she thought best she would give us whatever news she had in good season. But she had said that she was ready to talk, and I knew no quicker means of arriving at the tabooed subject of Robert Savarin.

"Have they caught the man Smith?"

"No, they haven't—yet," she said slowly, and her enunciation of the last word was significant to me of the long relentless arm of the government service.

"But he has been effectively cleared out of this section, his power and influence reduced to zero, and his property placed under surveillance, so that if he comes loose for a little," she resumed, "I fancy that it will lead us in surprising directions." She rose and stretched both arms above her head, and I knew that she had told me all she meant to reveal. But I thrilled with the conviction that behind her story was a sinister back-ground which I was not yet to know.

MRS. MATHIS WILL SPEAK FOR BONDS

(Montgomery Bureau, Albany-
Decatur Daily)

MONTGOMERY, Ala., Jan. 11—

Mrs. G. H. Mathis, known throughout the state because of her interest in agriculture, today volunteered her services as a speaker and organizer for the highway bond amendment which will be voted on at the special election January 20. Mrs. Mathis will devote her time to the campaign in her section of the state and will make several addresses in the interest of the ratification of the amendment. She has already done much work for the campaign, having organized units of women workers in eight counties.

Unusual interest is being shown in the campaign now and the Alabama Highway Improvement Association announced that speakers would be sent into the various sections of the state as they were requested. John A. Rowers, chairman of the highway commission, will deliver an address at a highway rally at Hartselle, Morgan county, Saturday. Another highway enthusiast is scheduled to speak at Albany Friday evening.

A highway speaker will be present at Robinsonville January 25 at the dedication of a new school building and will deliver an address, the request having been made by educators of Monroe county. Judge William W. Brandon, candidate for governor of Alabama, will deliver an address and in it will also appeal for the construction of a system of permanent roads.

The school building will be dedicated in honor of Lieutenant William C. Maxwell, citizen of the community, who was killed in an airplane accident during the world war. Members of the American Legion will participate in the dedication.

COTTON MARKET WEAK AT OPENING

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, Jan. 11—Weakness again developed at the opening of the cotton market today and prices dropped under yesterday's close, influenced by easy cables, scattered local liquidation, Wall street selling and offerings from Southern spot houses.

Demand was quite active at the start from Liverpool, the trade and Japanese interests, but was soon filled and prices continued their trend downward after the start until they were selling about 18 to 16 points net lower.

Only one notice was issued this morning.

"Pike's Peak."

Gen. Zebulon Pike of the United States army saw the peak in 1808 and is generally regarded as the first white man to discover it. This is disputed, however. The first ascent of the peak was made in July 14, 1820, by Dr. James, a geologist. Pike had reported that the peak could not be climbed. Nowadays many tourists get to the top of it every day during the summer by automobile.

What Is Palladium?

Palladium is a rare metallic element of the platinum group, found native, and also alloyed with platinum and gold. Like platinum, it is silver white, ductile, malleable and permanent in the air, but lighter and more easily fusible. Its symbol is Pd. It was discovered in 1803 by Wollaston, who named it after the newly discovered asteroid Pallas. It has a remarkable power of occluding gases, absorbing hydrogen nearly a thousand times its own volume. It is used for graduated circles and verniers, for plating certain silver goods, and in dentistry. —Seattle Daily Times.

REMINISCENCES

By J. ADLAI WEST

Who is there that ever lived in the country on a farm that doesn't remember the old-fashioned "log rolling." Great preparations were made for the event. Weeks were spent in getting the logs out. Ample preparations were made that the dinner served on that day was to be of the very best, and of a wide variety. Everything is announced ready. The boys are put on horseback and proceed to go over the country, notifying the neighborhood and giving them an invitation to the rolling. Everybody had time, or took time, to go. It was one of the really big events of country life. The day arrives. In they come, those sturdy sons of the country, with brawn and manhood to back it, all eager to try conclusions at the hand stick.

There was always some fellows in every community that boasted the proud distinction that "he had never had his knuckles pulled in the mud." This was the man that all who felt themselves physically able, were eager to get on the opposite end of the stick with. There was always a big log in the rolling, and this one was reserved to try the test of strength in. Frequently the title of the stoutest man would change at some of these events, as some one would wrest from him the title and invest himself with it, from the fact that he knocked his opponent.

There was always plenty of amusement on these occasions, and sometimes a jug of good cheer was placed at a suitable place where the waning strength could be revived at different intervals during the day.

Everything usually passed off pleasantly, and a wrestling or jumping match would feature at the dinner, or the evening when all of the logs were rolled.

Several tables were served by the good housewife and her assistants, who were generally some of the ladies from the settlement who always came to help with this feature of the occasion. It was a great time, and is yet remembered with a great deal of pleasure by those who lived in that period when the country was being cleared and gotten ready for cultivation.

Time changes the scenes, and today log rolling is one of the very rare occurrences. In those days there was no demand for the lumber, and saw mills were scarce and widely separated. Many fine saw stocks were burned in the log heap that today would be valuable and bring ready money.

There was always caution used in preserving good board trees, as these were the only means in that period of getting covering for homes and barns, and there was always strong rivalry in each community as to who could give the best board.

Incidentally I might remark that the very first money I ever made was by helping a man saw board timber across a log that was so large that it was impossible for me to see him. I got 20 cents a day for the work, and thought I was making much money. As I faithfully strived to pull my end of the saw, all the time thinking of the candy and a French harp that I could buy at the store of John Woods who kept nearby at old Cedar Plains. Today, these incidents are very pleasant to me indeed as I look back over a life more than half spent, and recall with great pleasure these milestones along the way.

Bigamist Serves Term in the Pen

(Montgomery Bureau, Albany—Decatur Daily)

MONTGOMERY, Ala., Jan. 11—Lieutenant C. D. Bohannon, who married an Ensley girl without taking his time and going to the trouble of obtaining a divorce from his first wife whom he left in Mississippi, will spend some time in the penitentiary for bigamy. Bohannon's case was affirmed by the court of appeals Tuesday afternoon on an appeal from the judgment of a jury of the Jefferson circuit court.

Lieutenant Bohannon didn't believe his first marriage was legal, according to his declarations on the witness stand. He admitted that he procured a license, that he went before a person who performed a marriage ceremony and that everything was done that should have been done except that he did not look upon his marriage as having the sanction of the law. He met the Ensley girl and married her without going into the divorce court. The court of appeals in an opinion written by Presiding Judge Bricken held this to be bigamy.

Henry Treet, of Jefferson, who held up a white man in broad daylight, must go to the penitentiary for ten years for highway robbery under another decision of the court of appeals.
